Djordje Stojanovic

Dipl. Ing. Arch, MArch AA, MSc, ARB

Djordje graduated from University of Belgrade and continued his education in London, earning Master Degrees from the Architectural Association DRL and the London School of Economics.

In the five year period starting from the year 2000, he worked for Zaha Hadid Architects, Ron Arad Associates and ARUP AGU while taking part in competitions with Superfusionlab. As an ARB RIBA III certified architect he worked on several built projects and numerous published studies for the following clients: BMW AG, Mandarin Duck, Thierry Mugler, Hotels Silken and Parkview. In 2005, he joined AKT Structural Engineering Consultancy as a Design Director, and manages the team of architects and programmers on several completed projects.

Since 2007 Djordje is working more closely with Superfusionlab on commissions and speculative projects, in association with his practice 4of7. He currently holds the position of Associate Professor at the University of Belgrade.
